1. Student assistant bot

This assistant bot is my first intense experience with programming. The source code is written using C++. It was summited for a school project. The idea behind the project is that to assist the students and also the university which uses the bot incase of student placement. I made it by taking AAiT as an example but the idea can be applied anywhere.

2. Simple GUI Calculator

After I develop some basic skills with java programming I tried what I have develop by making a simple GUI calculator. It helps me to implement Java Swing and more of java's control statements. This was my first real project with java.

3. Simple analog clock

I did this project as an assignment for school. It is written using the python turtle module which is my first experience with graphical user interface using turtle.

4. Tourism website using pure HTML and CSS

I made this one when I was a in grade 10 student. I had the idea that all Ethiopian students can be gathered on a group and work together for the benefit of our country. Even if it is not that much fancy as today's technology it is one of the works I proud of.

Generally speaking, I am a student with a great passion to learn and love to work in team. I also believe that any one cannot grow only by himself/herself so I like working with others and explore more knowledge and get some experience. If you take me as one of your student, I will improve and develop with a great quality and be one of the best programmers in the world. I have a big dream for success and I am hoping you give me some help with your training and make me a fruitful young person who helps both his families and his country.
